

The Suspects

Carmen Phillips

The bride herself, Carmen Phillips is just a week from walking down the aisle and is handling the stress of the upcoming wedding very well. She is elegant and conservative, and has requested a stagette free of the usual raunchy bachelorette games, strippers etc. Because of this, she asked her most conservative friend, Rachel Clark, to organize the bachelorette party. She wears a special faux tiara given to her by her maid of honour, Lainey Day, earlier in the evening.

Gabriella Bell

Gabriella is young and enthusiastic, and is known for her ability to "go with the flow". She is a long-time friend of the bride Carmen, and will be a bridesmaid in the wedding. Gabriella is relatively introverted unless she knows a group well, but is fiercely devoted to her friends.

Lainey Day

Lainey is a woman who seems to have it all together. She has a well-paying job, makes a lot of money and seems to have no need, or want, for a man in her life. Lainey is the maid of honour in the wedding, and has been friends with the bride, Carmen, since they were kids. For her day job, Lainey is a successful freelance auctioneer, and tends to speak quickly even in every day conversation.

Rachel Clark

Rachel was charged with the complete organization of Carmen's bachelorette party – a responsibility she has not taken lightly. She has gone to great lengths to ensure the bride's wishes be respected and she have a party that will be a special memory forever. Some think she has taken it all too far though, and because of this she has earned the nickname “Party Nazi”.

Sophia Price

Sophia came for a party, and that's exactly what she wants! Outspoken and outgoing, Sophia loves the idea of the traditional bachelorette party – one last, wild night for the bride, not to mention all her friends! She loves a good joke, be it clean or dirty, and pays little attention to whom she may offend with her sharp tongue.

Angeline Bennett

Angeline is a connected woman. Her work as a PR rep has given her some of the hottest contacts in the city, and she knows how to party. Angeline works with the bride Carmen, and does not know many others at the party – but that's never stopped her from stealing the spotlight before.

Alice Allen

The official wedding planner, Alice Allen has been specially requested to work on Carmen's wedding. Why? Because she's the best! She has her own business called Grand Events and Weddings, and has been with Carmen every step of the way in the planning process. Thanks to Alice, Carmen's wedding plans have so far gone off without a hitch. Alice prides herself on how calm her brides are before the wedding, and Carmen Phillips is no exception.

Michelle Butler

Michelle has a lightening-fast tongue and a never-ending arsenal of quick retorts. While she is well-liked by everyone, she is a shock to those who have never met her before, and can at first seem to come on a bit strong. In spite of this, she aims at the good and always has the best interests of her friends at heart. She is a long-time friend of the bride, but not an official part of the wedding.

Olivia Cruz

Olivia is a fashionista to the core. She works at a national fashion magazine, and takes style very seriously. She is always wearing the latest style and the most expensive brand, and would never be caught in anything that came out last season. To her credit, at the end of each season she cleans out her closet and donates most of the clothes to charity. Her friends always get first pick of the discards, but Olivia stresses the indignity of wearing someone else's hand-me-downs.
