

THE SUSPECTS

©SHOT IN THE DARK MYSTERIES INCORPORATED

UNA VOSS

Una Voss is a woman with a severe expression, dignified posture and not a hair out of place. Her confidence shows that she's a woman used to being in control. She is alluring, even statuesque, and is clearly a woman of a very wealthy and privileged upbringing. She has worn a black and white dress to fit with the masquerade theme, but even with everyone dressed in the same colours, she stands out in a designer dress and a mask that shimmers and sparkles.

AURELIA BIJOU

A sophisticated and delicate woman, Aurelia Bijou is a paragon of perfection. Her movements are graceful, as though she is a dancer, and she glides around with an aura of mystery. Clearly someone who is used to being on her own, while others are mingling, Aurelia tends to stand on her own and observe others rather than engage with them. Aurelia is turning heads in a classic and sleek dress in line with the black-and-white theme of the masquerade, and her mask accentuates her cat-like eyes.

DAPHNE BRIGGS

Daphne Briggs is a woman in mourning, having recently lost her husband to a heart condition. Having been married since a young age, Daphne is now starting to come out of her shell, exploring her interests and experiencing the city... and the world! This budding adventurer has just returned from a photo safari in Africa. She wears a simple dress in the black-and-white theme of the masquerade, and an extravagant mask adorned with rhinestones – or could those be diamonds?

VERITY CIELO

Quiet and reserved, this stunning beauty seems to be constantly taking everything in. While her face is hidden behind a feminine black mask, her eyes say it all – deep, hauntingly sad eyes that tell a tale of heartbreak. She tends to keep to herself at the masquerade, watching, as though making a mental note of every detail. When someone does approach to speak with her, she is polite and engaging, although clearly distracted by every slight movement around her.

AVIANNA PARADISO

One of the world's most renowned ballerinas, Avianna Paradiso is a true star. Having been dancing since she was just a young girl, Avianna has had a life in the spotlight. Over the last few years, however, her career has taken a hit, and she hasn't been seen on stage in over a year. Avianna insists she is just taking a hiatus, but rumours around the industry is that no one will work with her anymore, but no one can quite explain why. Avianna is poised and elegant, and has dressed in the mandatory black and white theme with a sparkling mask.

RUPERT VANCE

International businessman and CEO of a company called SyncVance Corp, Rupert Vance is prominent and well-known to anyone who follows international business. His presence at the masquerade tonight is truly a mystery, as Mr. Vance is notorious for avoiding the many public events and fundraisers to which he is invited. Something has brought this esteemed tech mogul and pharmaceutical giant out this evening though, and his presence is the talk of the masquerade. Rupert has dressed in the black-and-white masquerade theme, as were the requirements for attending the masquerade this evening.

DIRK SEGUNDO

Regal in nature with impeccable posture, Dirk Segundo brings to mind a duke or a man of title from the Regency era. Clearly wealthy, this man is sophisticated and charming, though mysterious. His wide eyes are clearly taking in everything and everyone in fine detail. He is dressed in line with the black-and-white theme of the masquerade, and has chosen a simple black mask.

MATTEO ALDRICH

Well-known philanthropist and local businessman Matteo Aldrich is hard to miss; there are not many who don't know this affable man, in spite of the fact he's wearing a mask. His bright eyes seem to dance and his disarming smile have left many wondering why they are so drawn to him. While he is unaware of the effect he has on others, his boyish charm and genuine enjoyment of others has served him well in his professional life. He has embraced the black-and-white theme of the masquerade, and wears his tux so well it's difficult not to stop and take notice of him.

TERTIA DIOR

Young, confident and well-dressed, Tertia Dior has a presence about him that others simply can not ignore. Even though he can come across as slightly arrogant, even his smirk of a smile and a mask can't hide the excitement in his eyes. Tertia is confident and engaging, and clearly used to making new friends in a room full of strangers.

GIUSEPPE COCCO

A gondolier, Giuseppe Cocco was one of a few who brought the invitees here, individually, one by one. As he was instructed, he ensured everyone had followed the black and white dress code this evening, and paused under The Bridge of Sighs to have each person he accompanied don a blindfold. Giuseppe is just as in the dark about the host of this party as everyone else, and was simply hired to do a job. Giuseppe is also dressed in the black and white theme, as he was instructed to by his mysterious employers.